

Six Common Sense Tips to Help Care for Your Glasses

- Don't leave your glasses in the car – High heat and temperature fluctuations can cause the lenses to expand and contract, and can damage the lens coatings.
- Keep them out of Fido's reach! Dogs love to nibble on things that are human scented – Including your glasses!
- Take off your glasses before pulling on or off a shirt or sweatshirt. They can get caught in the clothing and become bent or broken.
- Always use a microfiber cleaning cloth to clean your lenses, but remember wet cleaning is best (with dish soap and water). Even with a microfiber cloth, rubbing debris on dry lenses can scratch the coatings.
- Keep glasses in their case when they're not being worn. Never set your glasses in your lap or on a surface where they might be sat upon (couch, passenger seat, bed, etc).
- Don't put your glasses on top of your head! This stretches the temples, puts stress on the hinges, and results in a poor/loose fit over time.
